

“Don’t Bring” List

Things NOT to Bring Along on a Syncro Safari

- 1. Macho: This can keep you from making rational decisions & prevent you from turning back when you really should.
- 2. Impatience: This can really keep you from enjoying things. Trail trips are often very slow going, so relax & enjoy the scenery & camaraderie.
- 3. Passengers who don't want to be there: Please don't make anyone go that really doesn't want to be there.
- 4. Illness: If you or your passengers are not feeling good, stay behind. Getting sick on the trail can turn into a serious matter when you're hours (or days!) from medical attention.
- 5. Attitude: Getting along with your trail partners is very important to everyone on the trip. One person with a bad case of attitude can ruin a trip for everyone.
- 6. Noise & other "unsocial" behavior: A desire to create lots of noise with a radio or other means can ruin the outdoor serenity for everyone else around.
- 7. Illegalities: Is that a word? Basically, anything that is not completely legal. This might include illegal drugs, or other items including a desire to participate in illegal behavior.
- 8. Recreational Drugs: Regardless of local or state laws which might legally permit their use, recreational drugs such as marijuana are NOT permitted at Syncro Safari events.
- 9. Pets: This one is NOT an absolute rule. Depending on where we're camping, their rules, and the nature of the pets, there are exceptions to this.
- 10. Alcohol: Not an absolute rule. If campground rules permit, personal alcohol in moderation is allowed. Please do NOT bring enough alcohol for a party. Syncro Safari is a family event, not an excuse to drink too much. Under no circumstances should any Syncro Safari participant become drunk or bring alcohol on our trail runs or side trips.
